create space for individuals to learn about themselves while they are learning about others. At any rate, it was a sweet interlude to be back in person and the work seemed more intense and This was the last session for one of our members and the group proceeded with our formal He needed to acclimatize. to be more open about these very issues. Paradoxically, most members mentioned that it was more it might mean if it were each person’s dream and considered hiding both behind the cabinets and cabinets. She was sitting behind one of them and peeking out to see who was there. We shared what differently in person. We not want to do a year ago to stay safer. However, post vaccination, she was coming back to DC to look for housing be difficult because one person, who was immunocompromised, had moved to the rural Midwest over There were seven of us (counting me) on July 20 venue, that the sessions were excellent, and that we were working with therapeutic factors, group and as I have observed to all

Thank you Dr. Wodiska for being her I would not be here. She has

3. Hold Town Hall meetings twice a year to engage the community in the work of MAGPS and the perspectives and experiences to our conferences, and to be in dialogue with the Board and with each

1. Continue the work of the Anti-Racism Task Force by offering monthly events, such as Racial organizing the new Anti-Racism Committee. We are proposing several initiatives that we hope will strategy that would ensure progress and be sustainable over time. systems and policies that inherently uphold racist and oppressive structures. Over the past 20

Yes, please contact me!
Are you interested in interviewing one of our future

In this issue of the newsletter you will find: a enjoying being part of this community and this wonderful group of colleagues that I’ve am grateful, at the top of the list are the

Below, Margaret Francis, one of our MAGPS Student/New Professional Representatives, into the group process. To view the full brochure,